(A) Read the following text carefully, then answer the following questions

Keeping good health is everyone's dream. However, simply having a healthy body is not sufficient. Our overall well-being necessitates a balance between physical and mental health. So, what can we do to stay well? Scientists have come up with new information about how to stay healthy, and some of this may surprise you!

Several beverages are good for health. Orange juice has vitamin C. Milk has calcium. Black tea and green tea are good for health, too. They have antioxidants; these fight diseases such as cancer and heart disease. Most people know this. But although people of all ages and backgrounds enjoy hot chocolate, they don't know that it has more antioxidants than tea!

Too much stress is not good for physical health. Some stress is chronic, which means that it lasts for a long time. Chronic stress can make people old. As people get older, their eyesight and hearing become worse. This is normal. But chronic stress makes people age faster. Scientists can now identify how chronic stress makes people age. It can damage the body's DNA. The lesson from this is clear. We need to learn to relax.

One easy and cheap way to help both your physical and mental health is just to sleep well. Now, over half the people in the world may be sleep-deprived, which means they don't get enough sleep. Sleep-deprived people often have medical problems, such as high blood pressure, diabetes, and heart problems. It is also more difficult for them to make decisions. Clearly, we need to find time to get more sleep. But there is another reason. A new study from Germany found out that sleep makes people smarter. The study shows that the brain continues to work during sleep and helps the sleeper to work on problems.

How many languages do you speak? There might be good news for you. Bilingual people, who speak two languages very well, do better on tests than people who speak only one language. The ability to manage two languages in the mind is like a stimulating exercise for the brain.

To have good physical and mental health, we need to eat right, relax, sleep enough, exercise both the body and the brain.
