Reading Comprehension

Read the following passage then answer the questions below:

It is hard to imagine how certain products were invented. How did someone think of the eraser, clay, and potato chips? It turns out many of society's most well-known inventions were simply mistakes made by scientists trying to invent. No one could ever imagine that the flavoured potato chips and the morning best preferred breakfast, corn flakes, were accidentally introduced to the world's kitchens.

Potato chips were first meant to be a plate of fried potato. It was invented by George Crum, a chef at the Carey Moon Lake House. How was it created? One day, a customer sent back his plate of potatoes many times and kept asking for them to be more fried and thinner. Crum lost his temper, sliced the potatoes extremely thin and fried them until they were hard as a rock. To the chef's surprise, the customer loved them and wanted more!

Corn Flakes were invented by the Kellogg brothers, John and Will. They were trying to make pots of boiled grain. How was it created? The brothers accidentally left a pot of boiled grain on the stove for several days. The mixture turned bad but there was something that was dry and thick. Through experimentation they removed the bad part and created corn flakes. Wouldn't it be nice if you could invent something by mistake?

16-year-old Pat Tulloch has an unusual hobby. She makes cheese on the family farm in Australia. She began by making yoghurt with her mother when she was little. Then, she started watching her father’s workers make cheese. When she was ten, she made some cheese by herself for the first time. ‘It wasn’t great,’ she says, ‘but the workers told me what I was doing wrong and that helped me to slowly get better.’

Pat always needs good milk for her cheese, but she doesn’t have to buy it. Her mother and father keep 20 cows on their farm. Pat can just ask them when she needs more. Last year, Pat’s neighbour gave her a young cow to keep and look after, but it doesn’t produce milk to make cheese, yet.

Pat and her family make many types of cheese. Recently, they won a prize for one of them. ‘It’s been great for helping people find out about us,’ says Pat. ‘Last month we started selling cheese in New Zealand. People there read about our prize in a food magazine. Soon we’re going to do some advertisements, too.’

Pat’s next idea is to post some online recipes for cooking with cheese. ‘One of my favourites is cheese with eggs for breakfast. It’s great! Our cheese is also lovely with pasta – I hope a restaurant might buy some of our recipes one day.’ But right now, Pat is still at school. ‘Making cheese is fun and winning a prize for it is great but doing well in my studies matters more for now.’

B- Reading Comprehension (16 Marks)

Read the following passage carefully, and then answer the questions below:

It is bad to have food stuck between your teeth for long periods of time. This is because food attracts germs which produce acid, and acid hurts your teeth and gums. Flossing helps to remove the food that gets stuck between your teeth. It has been widely accepted that the use of floss has a favourable effect on plaque removal and disease prevention more than regular brushing.

The American Dental Association which provided many researches on dental health issues, reports that up to 80% of plaque can be removed with flossing. This fact explains why flossing helps to keep your mouth healthy, but some doctors say that it can be also good for your heart. It may seem strange that something you do for your teeth can have any effect on your heart.

One idea is that the germs that hurt your teeth can leave the mouth and travel into your blood. Germs that get into the blood can attack your heart. Another idea is based on the fact that when there are too many germs in your mouth, the body tries to fight against these germs. For some reason, the way the body fights these mouth germs may end up weakening the heart over time.

Some doctors think that people who have bad flossing habits also have heart problems, and people who have good flossing habits have healthy hearts. The theory that flossing your teeth helps to keep your heart healthy might not be true. But every doctor agrees that flossing is a great way to keep your teeth healthy.

Read the following passage carefully, and then answer the questions below:

Today in my fridge, there are a few grapes, a bunch of bananas, some fruit juice, a pizza, and some burgers. I know what this food does to my body, but what does it do to the environment around me? It's time to think how different kinds of food use up our earth's resources.

Firstly, labels give lots of valuable information: how long we can keep our food, how many calories it has and where it comes from. A few hundred years ago, most of our food came from places we could walk to, but today food travels thousands of miles. We refrigerate it, then transport it in planes and ships all over the world. This creates pollution and causes global warming. I look at the slices of pizza and immediately feel guilty - not because it's unhealthy, but because the prawns on it are from Thailand. Moreover, in the USA making burgers from cows creates the same amount of greenhouse gases as 20 million cars!

Next, in the UK, we don't recycle all our packaging. We throw away more than 30% of it. This waste goes to the rubbish dump and not to the recycling centre. Luckily, we don't need to package food like bananas, but food like grapes needs protection. So, I have decided to make a checklist for my next trip to the supermarket. First, read the label. Next, look at the packaging and third, don't buy a lot of meat. Maybe I could grow my own vegetables, too. It's eco-friendly. I would save some money and I wouldn't feel guilty about eating burgers.

Read the following passage carefully, and then answer the questions below:

We know that editors have organized newspapers well for readers with the most important stories on page one with big headlines and stories of lesser importance somewhere in the back of the newspapers. That isn't the way that we read them though.

I come to work on a train most mornings, with a lot of other people, all of whom are reading newspapers. We have about an hour, but an editor would be discouraged to see how we go about reading the paper. We don't follow his directions at all. We all look at the headlines quickly- we don't read the front-page stories unless we have time to come back to them later. We go directly to the articles that interest us most. Of course, there are a few people who do it right. They are often the most successful-looking people on the train. They read the important stories first and then go on to the other one.

Other newspaper readers on the train buy a good newspaper, take out their glasses and pencils, and turn immediately to the crossword puzzle. It takes them an hour to finish the puzzle, and I don't think that many of them ever look at anything else in the paper.

The way we read newspapers is what gives papers their edge over TV. Unlike TV, with newspapers, the reader is in charge. We can read our newspaper frontward or backward. We can skip what bores us and read the parts that we like. We can study the advertisement that interests us and ignore what doesn't.
